

1. Contrary to the current thought, this is not the Black Death. Isolate the elderly and this with compromised lung and immune systems and let the economy and workers get at it. You will pay an extraordinary price to try to save the last 2-3%
2. I think we are all going to get it, or have already had it, if we're careful we can reduce or slow the spread. But we don't have to destroy the countries economy to slow it.
3. I am very concerned that more people are not following the recommendations for social interactions. This puts everyone at greater risk.
4. There is no decision pathway in this pandemic that is without both good and bad consequences!
5. It is a matter of time until I catch it. It is the common cold.
6. I don't want to get any flu bug. But COVID19 pandemic is a hoax. This virus is very weak. It's people's immune system that is not strong enough to resist it.
7. I am exceptionally high risk with numerous underlying health issues.
8. I am staying home as much as I can. There's nothing to go do anyway! I am not afraid. I am sick of this lock down and wonder if it should go on much longer. I'm willing to wear a mask and keep distance for a while. We need to get back to living especially since the numbers are so much less than projected. And be smart about it.
9. This virus is overblown. We need to get back to work. I'm not saying we can't take some personal precautions (like we do with other illnesses), but this government shut needs to end now. People are losing their livelihoods over "models" that people are making guesses with.
10. I am careful, wash and gel my hands often. Hand sanitizer often when shopping. I have reduced my outings
11. As a paraplegic, I must be extremely careful because the China virus could kill me...
12. Take it serious people.
13. I am not going to do this much longer. The death rate in the united states isn't adding up. Currently @ 0.0244 deaths. Not worth ruining the economy over or the finances of the citizens.
14. I believe our reaction to the coronavirus epidemic is over done. This is an attack on the United States by China and an attempt to hurt our economy. We need to understand that this is war and take some risks. I say that as a 70 year old who could die. But, I am ready to do whatever it takes to defend our country.
15. My work is essential (oil refinery). My company and my safe practices will protect me.
16. Business needs to be opened back up immediately. Those at high risk should stay at home but the country must get back to work (using masks and taking other precautions), otherwise the crippled economy will do more damage to people than the virus itself.
17. I'm doing this to protect myself, mostly. But if I was asked to help somewhere, I'd go.
18. I think I already got sick, and I am immune. But since there is no test for immunity, I still have to play it safe. But we should really be trying to identify the immune people, and get them back to work rebooting the economy and caring for the sick.
19. The idea that anyone can say the unconstitutional edicts actually worked in reducing the spread is entirely smoke and mirrors! Let the liberal "chicken littles" quiver in a corner somewhere while the rest of us practice personal hygiene and get on with life and see how it shakes out!

20. Not even going out for groceries - having them delivered.
21. I'm retired so staying home is part of our normal activity. Also, I'm careful about going out as my wife has a compromised immune system.
22. I have several pre-existing conditions and am over 60. I have difficult time walking, so I am in the house all the time anyway, but that is nothing new.
23. I have definitely modified my life and am doing my part to help NOT spread this virus. My husband is a first responder and I work in the healthcare world. We are doing our best.
24. only because in my opinion Trump is the right leader for this situation. I would fear for my life and liberties if a progressive democrat was in charge. I keep my family at home and go to work (essential business last I heard) because I believe I will have my freedoms back when this is over. But it is wearing on me.
25. sanitize and stay 6 feet away from others
26. The governor is punishing the masses. A Seattle dweller is not the same as a resident of Tonasket.
27. Use common sense.
28. I am an old man with immunodeficiency
29. I think that it is as contagious as the regular flu, but a bit more nasty. Elderly and immuno compromised persons should be extra cautious. The rest of us will be 99% ok
30. The choice of treating this like any other flu was not give. People need to assess the risk for themselves based on facts presented by numerous sources, not just government. Risk is part of living and this virus does not appear to present a greater risk to individuals than other activities in life. Individual choice is essential.
31. I only go out to go to work where we have made significant changes. Only one of us is there at a time and we have our own areas all taped off, no one else enters it. When I go out for fitness walks and for essential shopping I am very careful.
32. Between C and D as I'm in a high risk category. I'm being prudent, basing my health practices on science rather than on media hype.
33. Without a infrastructure and upgrades the system and cooperation will delay and more casualties and immediate attention now and future..
34. Plus exercise in neighborhood
35. We live in Ellensburg though are wintering in AZ
36. I am watching statistics and the investigative reporting I can find, it is important my family, neighbors feel confident I am doing what I can to avoid being a carrier of the virus, so I may spend time with them and be of help to them if needed. That said I will make an independent risk assessment over the days or weeks which will inform my actions, regardless of what the government edict will be.
37. Im following common sense and keeping others in mind, as well as myself. Sometimes my common sense is more restrictive than what is being recommended. Its important to me that I do not do anything that could cause harm to anyone else!! HOWEVER some of the restrictions are absolute nonsense. If im not around others, why would i be disallowed from going out? Seeing fathers getting arrested for throwing a ball to their children, telling idiot empty headed citizens that they will get rewarded for turning people in, releasing thieves whovare breaking into our vehicles, banning the sale of seeds, clothing and other essential things....this is being handled poorly and my support is waning.
38. Lot of the scare is overblown.
39. I am in a high risk group and I am playing this conservative.
40. not getting sick won't matter if you lose everything because you are sitting at home. it is time to stop this madness.

41. With responsibility, maintaining social distances, have them to judge not by the government.
42. Face masks for everyone outside. This has taken too long to promote. The overall risk would be greatly reduced if everyone would wear and mask and forget the social distancing.
43. It is a very difficult situation, when it is our custom to happily engage with our families. There is great sacrifice, suffering, and mental anguish for most citizens. Counting days.
44. I am over 65 and retired.
45. Normal flu precautions work really well when followed.
46. People have common sense. I appreciate the 30 day guidelines, but we cannot live like this forever. We personally know to wash our hands, not get too close and stay home if we get sick! These common sense guidelines should help us get the economy back. I am observing all that has been asked of us but believe we must get things going utilizing wisdom and being careful.
47. Be careful, and use proper protocols, but don't lock down and close businesses. Just like any other illness, bacteria or virus, if we get sick, we get sick, and if we recover, we have just developed a healthy immunity
48. I have congestive heart failure and just had gallbladder surgery so I'm staying at home.
49. I do not wear a mask but adhere to the 6ft distancing while in public. We aren't visiting anyone during this time. I am in a vulnerable group but still feel there is too much fearfulness, hype, phobia Etc.
50. Need to use common sense and be careful doing our jobs and get the country back to work
51. I find the "liberal progressives" in this country to be so abhorrent in their behavior. We are faced with another horrid thing from another "communist regime" in the world and they are obsessive in their quest for CONTROL/POWER and I feel this has become their god.
52. Don't trust anyone in charge, decided to take control in early March and have been staying home to protect myself and family.
53. I think the media has blown this all out of proportion
54. Pretty sure had the virus back in December. This virus is more wide spread than the numbers are showing.
55. I'm a grocery worker and at times see 10 x's the amount of usual customers.
56. I think most of us will eventually get sick. I am being careful because it helps everyone to "flatten the curve," but I am under no illusions that we can hide until a vaccine is available.
57. I social distance all the time, I have leukemia and my wife has progressive MS so the way society looks at her she feels like an outcast
58. "Government edict?" More like common sense is what keeps me careful and mostly at home.
59. You need at least one additional option. Maybe two. I am at high risk and 73 yo. I go out with mask and gloves only as needed and otherwise stay home to protect myself from those who may carry the virus and infect what they touch. Those at high risk need to be very cautious, but those who do not fall into the high risk categories should be able to go about their normal activities, but be quarantined when infected.
60. There is a balance between containment and letting immune systems have exposure needed to develop resistance to COVID-19.

61. Some shut downs are ridiculous, Closing bathrooms in the parks, no fishing, Stopping road work, stopping mechanics that maintain the equipment. Where is the common sense. The governor shouldn't get paid until the economy is back to normal
62. Staying home except for grocery shopping.
63. My wife and I are both in the Highly Vulnerable Population
64. My husband & I fall into the vulnerable category due to our age & some underlying health concerns. We are sticking pretty close to home, ordering our groceries in & eating food from our pantry.
65. Foolish at this time to not observe shelter in place.
66. Stay home Save own and others life.
67. Stay in place needs to end soon
68. There is ALWAYS risk in life. Government CANNOT take away all risk. BUT they CAN and WANT to take our freedoms away.
69. wash your hands , wear mask in close encounters, keep hands from face , wash your hands , talk to friends OUTSIDE. six feet a
70. We are in the vulnerable age category & my spouse has some health issues that likely put him at higher risk for negative consequences should he get this virus. So both of us are staying home, ordering meals & groceries in.
71. This virus is nasty but still similar to flu. We never shut down before and we should never again. China is getting what it wants by having the world in fear. Our new cleanliness practices should continue to prevent wide spread flu every year. We have to watch out for legislators taking advantage of the fear.
72. There are a lot of unanswered questions about the virus. The Epoch Times calls it the CCP Virus--the Chinese Communist virus, since it was allowed to spread by the Chinese communists, perhaps with the intention of ruining the US economy.
73. I have survived the flu, and I can best do my part by gaining immunity and being part of the herd.
74. I think we are being given misleading statistics and it's hard to know what the real situation is.
75. Until most people get it and acquire some level of immunity, it will continue to be a problem. Reopen the economy and have the vulnerable isolate. Elderly, retired people have minimal effect on the economy anyway, so they can isolate without destroying the economy.
76. I don't go out at all. My daughter and her two children are staying with us and she is doing the shopping. We are over seventy and have conditions that make it dangerous to take the chance. All three of our children are working with the hospital and are very careful about touching things and washing their hands.
77. Skeptic here The cure is worse than the cause J
78. I believe we can perform our jobs with some good habits and we need to get back to work. The most vulnerable should be allowed to stay quarantined if they desire.
79. Social distancing and constant handwashing are our best combat strategies.
80. The local economy ought to open up soon in a gradual and responsible way.
81. None of the above accurately describe me. I have greatly minimized my interactions with others, don't care for my elderly mother as I was, get outside when weather permits as that is healthier than staying inside, mask when appropriate, and social distance in groc stores.
82. I have visited a few people, outside, and kept social distancing in place. But we cannot live like this long term.
